MATTHISON-KENNEDY GAGE PRESENTATION TO BE HERE OCT. 31ST

Famous Company Will Give "The Chastening" by C. R. Kennedy.

ACTORS OF FAME HERE AND ABROAD

Production Opens Entertainment Series at Middlebury.

Arrangements have been completed to have the Matthison-Kennedy-Gage Players present The Chastening by Charles Rann Kennedy here on the evening of October 31. This company composed of three internationally noted actors, Edith Wynne Matthison, Charles Rann Kennedy, and Margaret Gage, is sponsored here by the College Entertainment Committee. Edith Wynn Matthison (Mrs. Charles Rann Kennedy) is regarded both in Europe and America as one of the consummate artists of the day. Her voice and diction are cited everywhere as the model of perfect English music. Her Euripidean roles took London by storm, earning her the name, "Our greatest tragic actress." Miss Matthison has won equal acclaim in her range of comedy roles as well.

Charles Rann Kennedy, best known as the author of "The Servant in the House" is a dramatist actor and producer. He has broken new dramatic ground, founded a new technique. The University of Chicago Press has recently published his "Plays for Three Players" which volume includes "The Chastening." This volume may be secured from the college library.

Miss Margaret Gage is a gifted young artist of rare spiritual distinction. She is a graduate of the Bennett School, where Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy are in charge of the Drama Department. The training given her by the Kennedys has led her to uncommonly fine achievement.

The Chastening has been presented with equal success both in London and New York by this notable company, and has built up for the players a wide public on "the road" throughout America. It is a play based on the theme "What shall we do with our Boy?" with a counter theme, "What shall the Boy do with us?" commanding strong attention. It is a play with a strong emotional as well as spiritual appeal that sets parents as well as young people to pondering.

Seats are now available at Frost's.

M. DESCLOS ADDRESSES CLUB ON FRENCH UNIVERSITY LIFE

The Cercle Francais held its first meeting Wednesday evening, October 17, at the Chateau. M. Auguste Desclos, who is assistant director of the office National des Universities gave a lecture on "French University Student Life, Past and Present," illustrating his talk with stereopticon slides. M. Desclos spoke here last year on the French educational system and the Cercle was most fortunate to secure him again for this year.

M. Desclos traced the course of French education from its first beginnings to its present system, taking as his example that of the Sorbonne University.

Rollins A. Furbush and Donald P. Talbott of the class of 1928 are traveling in California and Alaska as tutors and companions for two boys one of whom is Sanford H. Lane, Jr., son of Mr. Sanford H. Lane of the class of 1905.

New Clement Prize For Undergraduates

Announcement of a prize for students at Middlebury and certain other New England colleges, amounting to $500, has been made public under the will of the late Governor Percival W. Clement of Vermont. The prize bears the name of the late governor and is to be awarded annually for the best thesis in the support of the principles of the Constitution as established March 4, 1789, and the first ten amendments thereto.

Competition for the prize is open to the students of the junior and senior classes of Amherst, Bates, Brown, Bowdoin, Wesleyan, Tufts, Colby, M. I. T., Dartmouth, Middlebury, Harvard, Trinity, U. of Vermont, Yale, Williams, B. U., Norwich and U. of Maine.

The first competition for the prize will take place during the current college year, and the award will be made in accordance with the decision of the majority of a board of judges made up of the presidents of the three first named colleges, who will serve for three years, followed by the next three, and so on in rotation. The decision of the president of Columbia will decide a disagreement.

Governor Clement was a graduate of Trinity and was prominent in railroad management and newspaper work. He owned and published the Rutland Herald, a daily newspaper, from 1882 until his death in 1927.

"SPIRITUAL VISION" VESPERS SUBJECT

Doctor Richmond of Union Stresses Youth's Ideals.

Doctor Richmond of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., gave the address at vespers Sunday taking his text from the Acts 2:17. "I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh and your young men shall see visions." Dr. Richmond said in part: "The only reason why we have civilization is because God has given out here and there pieces of this vision and those to whom he has given them have the power to mold human life. Thousands of years ago a great man said 'where there is no vision. the people perish.' The very salvation of life is the compulsion of the soul which brings man in touch with the divine. The realization of a man's spiritual vision is what raises him from the level of the fighting animal and fits him for the highest place in life.

"The spiritual ideal must be more than a vision; it must be crystalized into a definite form. Christ alone is the vision incarnate. It takes wonderful insight to choose Him as our ideal. The one who desires money and success would never choose Him for He was not a winner, but a loser. His life began in the manger and ended in the shame of the Cross. And yet, Jesus Christ is the greatest success the world has ever known, because He is the one character in all history who was perfectly true to his ideals. It has been said that the idealists of America will be the saviours of America as the One Idealist was the saviour of the world. The mission of every college is to send out men and women who have vision and who will be able to give it to others.

"There is a kind of weariness in some successes and bitter dregs in others but the vision of Christ can never lose its freshness.

"The visions of youth are the visions of the future. God gave youth ideals not to lose but to keep and these ideals held and followed will keep visions in the eyes of all."

COMMITTEE CHOSEN FOR SOPHOMORE HOP

Date For Dance Definitely Selected; Bids Received For Music.

The Executive Council of the sophomore class, composed of class officers, and John Tweedy, chairman of Soph Hop, met Saturday and selected a committee to assist in this year's Hop. The committee includes a member from each fraternity and the neutral body of both colleges, as follows: E. Parker Calvert, George E. Foote, Roy E. Hardy, Eugene E. Hoyt, Charles A. Kennedy, Richard A. Paul, Robert G. Spencer, Wyman C. Tupper, Alden C. Utton; Elizabeth Bull, Miriam Hasseltine, Mary Hough, Ruth McNulty, Dorothy Pierson, Hazel Reno, Mary Stolte.

Mr. Tweedy has secured the use of the Inn for Thanksgiving Eve., November 28. The Hop will be formal and dancing from nine until two. Several bids from orchestras were received, but as yet no selection has been made. Prospects however, for good music look well, and the club to play at the Hop will in all probability be chosen this week.

Tickets for the Hop will be on sale the first week in November. They can be secured from any member of the committee or the officers of the class.

BAND MAKES FIRST PUBLIC APPEARANCE AT SATURDAY'S GAME

The College Band composed of thirty members made its first public appearance at the game on Porter Field last Saturday. Their playing was well received adding much pep to the cheering section. They gave selections between the halves and at opportune times during the game.

The band is under the direction of Mr. Joseph F. Lechnyr of Burlington, and under the managership of L. Riccio '29. New uniforms, composed of blue blazers and white trimmings with an insignia on them, have been ordered. Blue and white caps will complete the outfit. It is hoped that they will be ready for the Norwich game.

On Wednesday, October 17, the band held marching practice in front of the chemistry building and in the evening a rehearsal of concert music was held in the Music Studio. A possible trip to Rutland is underway, and as previously announced it will play at the Tufts game on November 10, and the Friday night before the game at the alumni rally in Boston.

The band is well started and is shaping up better than was expected, a large number of freshmen having turned out.

BLACK PANTHER ELEVEN INVADES NORWICH CAMP NEXT SATURDAY

New Sport Gaining Favor at Middlebury

A sport, new to Middlebury, is starting this year in interclass soccer. This game has never been organized here before this year, but Assistant Coach R. C. Clogston, has developed much interest in his new program. Starting after football season, a series of contests will begin. These contests are open to all classes, and the class winning the majority of these games will be awarded a banner with their class numerals thereon. It is felt that there will be considerable interest stirred up as a number of Middlebury boys had splendid preparatory school records in this sport.

Soccer is a relatively new collegiate game, but surprisingly much interest has been placed upon it in the short time that it has been recognized. It is officially acknowledged as a sport at most present-day colleges, including Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, West Point, Annapolis and Wesleyan. Many colleges and universities record soccer as a major sport, while in the majority of other schools it is a minor activity.

MIDDLEBURY MEETS WILLIAMS IN CROSS COUNTRY SATURDAY

Middlebury's distance team will meet Williams College here next Saturday. The race will be run over the 6 mile course and will start promptly at 9 o'clock in the morning at some spot near the gymnasium. The Williams men defeated the Panthers last season, but the outcome of this week's meet cannot be predicted since the Blue team has not had a chance to show its real worth, as yet, this season. Captain Butler speaks of this meet with confidence.

There will be three other meets this season. Nov. 3 the team goes to Troy, N. Y., to meet Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute Nov. 10, St. Stevens College will come here for competition with the home team. Nov. 17, the day of the U. V. M. football game, the Blue harriers will engage with the University of Vermont.

In the trials held last Friday, over the six mile course, Capt. Butler, '29, R. Dalton, '30 and W. Witt, '29, finished in dead heat. Their time was good, but for various reasons will be withheld from publication. Following the trio, but not in any way troubling them, came K. Cox, '31. The next three places were hotly contested, D. Farnham, ex-'29, lead until ten yards from the finish, where L. Haskins, '30, managed to just nose him out, H. McKee, '30, was right with them, only a few inches put him in the last place of the three. Others crossed the tape in the following order: A. Newcomb, '29, E. Sessions, '30, Rovengo, '31, L. Diguilio, '30, F. Barker, '29.

The Freshmen are developing a squad which will meet the U. V. M. yearlings on the same day of the varsity race.

Is First Contest In Two Years; Floods Stopped Game Last Year.

BOTH TEAMS HAVE MEN ON SICK LIST

Game Opens Green Mountain Conference Title Series.

(By ARTHUR BRUSH, '29)

For the first time in two years the Black Panther eleven will invade the realms of the Horsemen when the Middlebury team will meet the Norwich Cadets on Sabine Field Saturday. Hopes run high in the Middlebury side as there are no new injuries reported since the Springfield game last Saturday and the men on the injured list are all getting back into shape.

Last year no game was held due to the flood, but before then Middlebury met two defeats in successive years. Norwich is this year about the strongest it has been and according to present indications a hard battle will be on deck when the two teams clash in the first of the Green Mountain Conference games this year. Norwich has won three out of four games and has accounted for 59 points so far this season, to her opponents 60, while Middlebury has chalked up 14 to her opponents 59.

Guarnaccia is in top season form and along with McLeod, Johnson, Willis and Smith the backfield should be able to hold its own. Jacobs, a man new to the game this year is still out with a bad shoulder and it is doubtful if he will get into the game. Coach Beck has been shifting the line around a good deal lately and has been developing new men in the end positions. Valois, who made a good showing last Saturday will probably start in at left end, as MacNary, who was hurt in the M. A. C. game a week ago, is still out with a game leg. On the other end Beck has Gruggel to rely upon along with Hoyt and Webber. At the tackle position "Red" Huntington at right with Perry and Wright at left, Norwich should experience some difficulty, while Keenan, Allen and Wilson help make up the rest of the line. Whitman at center supplimented by Green and Captain Webber should, if they keep on their last exhibition, stop the Cadets plunging.

The whole difficulty will be in stopping the Horsemen's aerial attack. Kane, Coane and Captain O'Donnell make up a dangerous passing combination, while "Doc" Waining at quarter is another threat. Norwich has a heavy line augmented by heavy fast ends in Taylor and Coane, the quelling of which will be a deciding factor.

The coaching staff is reticent as to the probable line up for the game this Saturday, as new developments are forthcoming. During the week Coach Beck has been drilling the men in defense.

While the Cadets took over the Mass. Aggies last Saturday, still they had a weakened aggregation to meet and comparative scores do not tell much, according to the season's upsets. Norwich will also hold back some of her material and plays as on the 3rd of November she plays Vermont at Burlington, while Middlebury has a game on that date with Hamilton.

There will be a sale of slightly damaged goods from the Grey Shop Monday and Tuesday afternoons at Pearsons Hall.

JUDGE AND LAWYER.

An editor of a non-partisan newspaper is placed in the somewhat peculiar position of being at once the judge and lawyer. He must listen impartially to the arguments of both sides, give the advocates of opposing ideas equal opportunities to present their cases. Then he is supposed to present in the editorial column a one-sided and opinionated case for that side from which in his opinion the most benefits will accrue to the college.

It is impossible to fulfill either of these roles perfectly unless one has all the facts. It is very seldom that one person is placed in possession of all the information about a particular controversy, and even if he was and presented them accordingly he would probably be criticized for being partial, or at the least, uninformed.

In regard to the present fraternity question we can as yet only fulfill the first named role. We are willing to present through the communications column both sides of the question. We urge that the students look at the matter from all angles and take no definite stand until both sides of the case have been thoroughly reviewed.

One thing that is evident from the situation as it now stands is the fact that the present system of rushing and enforcement of rushing rules is far from perfect. But as we look through the editorial columns of other college papers we see that other systems are not working any better. In another column we are presenting some of these editorials which are fairly representative of the group.

COPY.

Twenty-five dollars would keep the New York Times in copy paper for five or ten minutes, the Campus would survive for years with that amount and even the budding story writer would not run short for several months.

The point is this: The Saxonian is offering a prize of $25 with other prizes totaling the same amount in exchange for some printable stories. In past years the money has, it seems to us, been fairly well spent. But what the Saxonian wants are stories that are bargains at any price, stories which will put the Saxonian at the top of the list.

If everyone who can keep the parts of his infinitives within speaking distance of each other and supply punctuation marks in appropriate places would spend some of his spare time on a story for the Saxonian, that magazine would be able to choose stories from a large enough assortment so that the readers would be assured of some excellent reading in the next issue.

It is quite possible that the same authors might receive the prizes but at least they would do so under the stimulus of competition rather than from habit and we are inclined to believe that the first prize story might be by an author heretofore unseen in Middlebury literary columns.

You are paying for the Saxonian. Why not help to make it worth while for yourself and its readers.

We thank those few alumni who sent items for this week's issue and ask again that every alumnus send at least one item.

The local presidential campaign probably saw less "gas" than the national one. It is interesting to note that the "All for Gaz and gas for all" slogan won.

Springfield players must have wondered at a student body with so much pep that it cheered unceasingly even between the halves.

Middlebury should have a mountain day.

A COMMUNICATION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CAMPUS:

Is Middlebury a kindergarten or a college? Sometimes it would be hard to tell, judging from the actions of the administration.

The administration's action in frowning upon the method of running the now defunct political campaign might have been all right in a grammar school, but in a college it was unnecessary and uncalled for. The campaign was doing absolutely no harm; in fact it was a good thing, but good things do not seem to thrive in Middlebury and so another one went by the board.

The last election held in Middlebury was given much publicity by the Metropolitan newspapers. This election would probably have been treated in the same way had it not been for its untimely death. Middlebury needs publicity, but when the opportunity comes, the administration refuses to answer its knock.

There is a lot of talk about the lack of school spirit at Middlebury. It is true only because any time school spirit is shown, it is frowned upon by the college authorities and so the students learn to steer clear of any such outburst. A political campaign such as was to be, is a wonderful way of arousing school spirit as it provides something interesting and amusing. Dartmouth elects a "Mayor of Hanover" each year and the spirit aroused by this campaign is fostered and lives throughout the year. One never hears of a lack of school spirit at Dartmouth.

Here in Middlebury, freedom is bought at the price of liability to expulsion from school. Noise at the movies, noise in the dormitories, and the like, brings down the wrath of the Deans. There is no surer way of killing school spirit than to stop the overflowing exuberance of the students by action on the part of the "powers that be."

Middlebury will soon be a stronghold for the Women's Christian Temperance Union or the American Federation of Old Maids unless more freedom on the campus is allowed the student body. The students have cuts and thus gain freedom from classes, but freedom outside of classes is evidently not to be had.

How about giving the students credit for at least having the ability to carry on their activities without interference. "Give Us Liberty or Give Us Death."

PATRICK HENRY II.

(Editor's Note.—The administration made no objection to the political campaign as long as it was a battle of wits and did not interfere with classes and the proper functioning of chapel. The campaign was discontinued through undergraduate arrangement. The editor heard several students express disapproval of the conduct of the candidates, managers and students in chapel. It seems to us that in a collegiate institution such a political campaign could have been much better carried on with more resort to the clever and unusual and less dependence on horse play.)

The accusation of a breach in rushing rules which occurred in last week's CAMPUS, was not authorized by the Interfraternity Council, as some people may have been led to believe, but was my personal accusation, for which I apologize to that fraternity for the manner in which I placed them, open to public criticism.

(Signed),
STILLMAN F. KELLEY 2nd.

VIEWPOINTS

COLGATE ALUMNI AND PRE-SEASON RUSHING

In line with the dissatisfaction voiced by members of the student body with the present rushing rules there has arisen for discussion on the campus the matter of the extent to which alumni should be permitted to partake in rushing before the "gunning" season actually begins and also the problem of how to limit pre-season rushing. The latter, that of organizing the list of those to be rushed in order to obtain greater efficiency, has become of sufficient importance to warrant the early return of large numbers of fraternity men with the usual result that the house best able to make an excellent impression on freshmen before rushing season "gets the jump" on the other houses.

The alumni, especially those who are able to return to Colgate in early September, prove a valuable aid in lining up first year men for their houses. There is no breach of rules in this case, but it does involve a certain degree of advantage and disadvantage, depending of course upon which house holds the upper hand in the matter. The Pan-Hellenic Council is going to find it increasingly difficult in years to come to face the situation adequately for it is the sort of condition that later may come to be an accepted part of Colgate rushing instead of being considered in the light of an evil. The matter is one, however, that should be provided for during the present year by some sort of enforceable legislation before it outgrows the power of the Pan-Hellenic Council.

The other question, that of preseason rushing by undergraduates as well as graduates, is fast becoming an item of expense in the business of rushing. Considerable money is spent in entertaining freshmen during their first few days in school in order to create an obligatory feeling on their part. This condition should likewise deserve the careful attention of the Council when it holds its next meeting. This matter, like the others up for discussion, should be treated in an openminded manner, because there might possibly be some advantages brought to light which would warrant the retaining of developing of certain features.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM AT FRIDAY'S RALLY

The pep rally for the first home football game of the season was held in McCullough Gymnasium, last Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting was well attended by an enthusiastic group from both the men's and women's college.

Carl G. Sorenson, recently elected president of the senior class, introduced the speakers, the first of whom was Captain Webber '29, who spoke as representative of the team. He stated that his men were out to win, and that with loyal support from the student body victory could be secured. Professor Goodreds, addressing the student body for the first time, spoke of the importance of football in the college life of today.

A skit, featuring "Purity Henry" for president, caused the audience much amusement. Those who took part were E. A. Henry, '30, Charles A. Stanley, '30, John J. Seehan, '29, and Raymond F. Bosworth, '29.

Professor C. H. Griffin then spoke a few words about the need of all the students attending the game. He said that it was everyone's duty to get everybody else to Porter Field on Saturday afternoon. Professor Phelps N. Swett was very optimistic as to the game. He insisted that we had had our "lean" and now was the time for our "fat", that victory was near. The last speaker was Coach Beck, who said that the team had fine spirit, but more good material was needed. He spoke at some length about encouraging good athletes "back home" to enter Middlebury. The coach also praised the spirit of the school, and said that had the Amherst and M. A. C. games been played at home with the student spirit behind them the team would probably have been victorious.

Cheers and songs during the evening were led by Donald C. Henderson, '29. The college band accompanied the songs, and gave selections before and after the program.

CHANGE IN RULES OF HOURS FOR DANCING

Student Life Committee To Permit Informals To Start at 5 O'Clock.

At a meeting of the Student Life Committee held last week, it was decided to allow informal dances to begin as early as five o'clock. For many years, there has been a rule that dances should not begin earlier than six o'clock with the exception of Formal Dinner dances which could begin at half past five. This rule was made a number of years ago, when dances held in Pearsons Hall Saturday afternoons from 2:30 to 5:30 became unadvisable.

During the fall months, the fraternities are unable to have house dances because of the numerous college dances in the gymnasium. Therefore the Student Life Committee has passed a motion to the effect that dances by any group may begin at five o'clock, with the exception of formal dinner dances, which may begin as early as half past four. The committee thinks this ruling is fair because it will allow the fraternities desiring parties to have informal dancing and supper in the interim between home games and the informal dances in the gymnasium.

The Student Life Committee is also making it a policy to refuse to grant permission for groups to have informals on nights when any college organization is having an informal dance. These actions are to be tried out and if they prove unsatisfactory they will be repealed.

MIDDLEBURY AT HARVARD.

Cambridge, Mass., (Special to the CAMPUS)—A new record enrollment of Middlebury men at Harvard Law School was established here when registration figures were made available yesterday. With more than two hundred American colleges and Universities as well as several foreign universities represented among the law school men, nine men were formerly associated with Middlebury, eight having received degrees there.

In the third year class are John Connelly '26 and R. L. Rice, Jr. '26. Those who are taking the second year work are: Charles Adams '27, Dana S. Hawthorne, '26, and Alfred Padula, ex-'27. Hawthorne, who entered law school with Connelly and Rice was forced to drop out of school early last fall because of sickness, and so is restarting his second year's work. Four members of the Class of 1928 are first year men. They are: Albert Leahy, Carlton Simmons, Albert Totten, and Frank Vecchiolla.

Largest Informal of Season Held Last Saturday Night

The informal dance which was held in McCullough Gymnasium Saturday night, October 20, was attended by approximately ninety-five couples; nearly twice as many as have attended the previous informals. It was the third of the season and the only which the varsity football men have been able to attend. They, in addition to a number of Springfield men who were present in the stag line, increased the attendance considerably. Music was furnished by the same Black Panther Serenaders who played for the first informal. In the receiving line were Professor and Mrs. Swett, and Professor and Mrs. Barney.

Dancing was suspended for a brief interval during the latter half of the evening while Mr. William B. Gazdagh '29, "President-elect" of Middlebury College took the oath of office, made his inaugural address, and was presented with an elongated cane, symbol of his new office.

ALUMNI NOTES

Paris Fletcher, '24, who received his LL.B. degree from Harvard Law School in 1927 is now a member of the Massachusetts bar and is with a law firm in Worcester, Mass.

Raymond Torrey, '23, received his M. D. last June from the University of Chicago, and has returned to his home in Tenants Harbor, Me. He expects to practice in Maine.

Milton Egan, '26, has resigned his position with a Hartford insurance company, and is making a trip through the southern states. His last address was given at Charlotte, N. C.

DRAMA REVIEW

The College dramatic season opened in the Playhouse Thursday evening with a successful presentation of Alice Gerstenberg's "Overtones" and Geo. M. Cohan's "Common Clay."

"OVERTONES"
By Alice Gerstenberg
CAST

Harriet, Cultured Woman — Margaret Lackie, '29
Hetty, Her Primitive Self — Elizabeth McDermott, '29
Marjorie, Cultured Woman — Dorothy Dietz, '29
Maggie, Her Primitive Self — Doris Collins, '29

Time—The present.
Scene—Harriet's fashionable living room.
Directed by Emily White, '29

"Overtones" is a forerunner of several plays dealing with the dual personality of the characters. Unlike the old "asides" or the more modern method, introduced by O'Neill, of using masks to express the hidden thoughts of the characters, Miss Gerstenberg has introduced the unique idea of bringing extra players on the stage to represent the true or underlying characteristics of the characters.

Harriet and Marjorie were and are still, in love with a struggling artist. Harriet married a business man for his money and Marjorie married the artist for his love alone and doesn't regret it, even though it has been a financial struggle ever since. Marjorie and her husband have recently returned from France and are in such desperate financial straits that she has gone to call on the wealthy Harriet to drum up trade. Marjorie gets the order.

All this is handled through the "primitive selves" who bring out the true thoughts and characteristics of the two women. The "primitive selves" are constantly fighting with one another, are jealous of each other's seeming success and are looking for any opening to slip something over on the other. All this time the cultured ladies are sitting at tea complacently discussing the pseudo success of the artist. The story is cleverly worked out and the unique technique does not break up the continuity as might be expected.

Margaret Lackie, as Harriet and Dorothy Deitz, as Marjorie both did rather well, but seemed, at times, to be struggling with half remembered lines. Doris Collins, as Maggie, put over her part convincingly. Elizabeth McDermott, Harriet's primitive self, very successfully handled the difficult inflection and acting of her part and did the best work of the play.

The setting was a failure and the lighting effects, good at first, fell down at the end.

"Common Clay" is a hilarious affair full of laughs from the start to the end. It is a musical comedy without the music. A steady rythmic beat greatly heightens the comedy of the play. The scene is laid in a courtroom where a young girl is being tried for something or other. Her mother comes in to testify and after offering the information that the girl's name is not Clay, but is Mud, they all suddenly discover that the Judge is the girl's long lost father and that the boy, who is accusing the girl of the nameless deed, is her more recently lost brother. And there you are.

The girl, Jane, was very successfully handled by Emily White. Freddie Lynch the Judge was the big hit of the evening. He injected much original comedy into the role and proceeded to bring down the house. James Thomson, the cop and time beater, was especially good. Elbert Henry did a good piece of work as the cigar eating detective even though he was not hailed into that part until the evening of the production. Raymond Bosworth also did well considering the fact that he also was a last minute recruit.

The set designed and executed by "Rube Goldberg" Bosworth was very cleverly conceived and painted.

SPRINGFIELD COLLEGE GRID WARRIORS OUTPLAYED, BUT WIN OVER PANTHER

Bay Staters Take Advantage of Breaks To Defeat Middlebury 13-7.

BLUE FLASHES FINE OVERHEAD ATTACK

(By WARD S. YUNKER)

Led by the plunging Sammy Guarnaccia and a passing combination of Willis to Valois, the Middlebury eleven battled a smart Springfield College team of grid warriors on nearly even terms Saturday on Porter Field and were barely nosed out 13 to 7. The game was well played throughout and at times bordered upon the brilliant. The breaks favored the Red and White Bay State aggregation and they were smart enough to take advantage of them, scoring touchdowns after a bad punt and by intercepting a forward pass. Middlebury scored after a march from her own 40 yard line in the fourth quarter.

"Fighting Sam" Guarnaccia was easily the star of the game. Time and time again the Middlebury cheering section was brought to its feet by a hair-raising dash around end or a smash at the line by the fleet fullback. Valois, playing his first varsity game made the best showing of any Blue and White end this season. His feats in snatching forwards out of the very hands of Springfield players were remarkable. Dougherty and Bell starred for Springfield.

Springfield was expected to produce a well executed aerial attack while Middlebury was not supposed to have much in the line of fireworks via the air. Saturday however, it was just the opposite as Springfield never resorted to the forward pass while the Blue and White put the pigskin in scoring position with a beautiful 20 yard heave.

Coach Jack Rothacker's warriors got the jump at the very outset and although the Panther goal line was not crossed in the first period it was in danger and the Red and White succeeded in pushing across two touchdowns in the second quarter while Middlebury could not get going. It was well that Springfield got their scores while they could because the Blue and White played far superior football in the second half. On the short end of the score due to Springfield's taking advantage of the breaks, the Middlebury eleven kept the ball in Springfield territory most of the second half and succeeded in tallying one touchdown and perilously near a second.

Early in the second period, Middlebury got the ball on her own 25 yard line. Smith lost 5 yards and Huntington dropped back to punt. The ball slipped through the Panther tackle's fingers and rolled to the 2 yard line before he could retrieve it. Willis punted from behind his own goal line on the next play, but the ball only went as far as the 20 yard line. Four rushes put the ball on the 7 yard line and a first down. Four more line plays and its was over, W. Johnson carrying the ball. Waleneck kicked goal.

Shortly afterwards, Middlebury started a drive that was rudely interrupted when Hammond intercepted a forward pass and squirmed, twisted and fought his way 45 yards through the entire Panther eleven to a touchdown. Donofiro failed to kick goal.

The Blue and White outplayed the Red and White throughout the third period but were unable to score. The Panther started an offensive from midfield at the start of the final quarter with Guarnaccia making gain after gain for a first down on the Springfield 38 yard line. Willis dropped back and heaved a long pass which Valois snatched from under the noses of four Springfield players to put the ball on the Red and White 14 yard line. Guarnaccia went around right end for 5 yards and then through tackle for a touchdown. Willis kicked goal.

First Period.

Hammond kicked off for Springfield to Willis on the Middlebury 23 yard line, who ran it back to the 33 yard line. Huntington punted on the first play to Dogherty who caught the ball on Springfield's 20 yard line and raced to Middlebury's 30 yard line before being downed. After gaining no ground through the line, Crowell punted, the ball hitting Guarnaccia on the Middlebury 22 yard line and was recovered for Springfield by J. Clark. Springfield could not make the distance and Middlebury took the ball on downs on her 14 yard line. Willis punted to Springfield's 36 yard line. Springfield was penalized 15 yards for holding and 5 for disputing penalty. Crowell punted to his own 34 yard line. Middlebury could not gain and Springfield took the ball on downs on her own 25 yard line. An offside and a line plunge by Crowell made first down for Springfield. Ball made another on a jaunt to Middlebury's 23 yard line. Middlebury took the ball on downs on her own 17 yard line. Huntington punted to Dogherty on Springfield's 31 yard line as quarter ended. Score: Springfield 0; Middlebury 0.

Second Period.

Springfield made no gain through the line and Crowell punted to Middlebury's 25 yard line. Smith lost 5 yards. Huntington fumbled, the ball rolling to 2 yard line before being recovered. Willis punted to his own 20 yard line from behind the Middlebury goal line. Four line plays made it first down for Springfield on the 7 yard line and four more line plays brought a touchdown with W. Johnson carrying the ball. Waleneck kicked goal. Hammond kicked off to R. Johnson on the Middlebury 7 yard line and the ball was run back to the 24 yard line. Willis made first down on Middlebury's 40 yard line. No gain through the line and Huntington punted to Springfield's 35 yard line. Hammond punted to Middlebury's 35 yard line. Hammond intercepted a pass and raced 45 yards to a touchdown. Donofiro failed to kick goal. Springfield was penalized 15 yards for illegal communication with a substitute and Hammond kicked off from his own 25 to Middlebury's 25 yard line. A pass Willis to R. Johnson put the pigskin on the Springfield 21 yard line. Guarnaccia made 11 yards. A pass was grounded in the end zone to give Springfield the ball on her own 20 yard line. Hammond punted to Middlebury's 37 yard line as the period closed. Score; Springfield 13; Middlebury 0.

Third Period.

Clark kicked off for Springfield to Middlebury's 20 yard line where R. Johnson nabbed it and ran it back to the 40 yard line. No gain through the line and Huntington punted to Dogherty who ran the ball from the Springfield 16 yard line to the 30 yard line. No gain through the line and Hammond punted to R. Johnson on the Middlebury 40 yard line. No gain and they exchanged punts again. There was no further ground gaining in the period and Middlebury got the ball on her own 40 yard line after a punting duel as the period ended. Score: Springfield 13; Middlebury 0.

Fourth Period.

Middlebury made first down [illegible] inches at midfield. McLeod and Guarnaccia made another first down on the Springfield 38 yard line. Line plays netted 2 yards and Willis fired a pass to Valois to put the ball on Springfield's 14 yard line. Guarnaccia covered the 14 yards in 2 plays. Willis kicked goal. Huntington kicked off for Middlebury to the Springfield 20 yard line where Bell caught the pigskin and returned it 22 yards. No gain through the line and Hammond punted, the kick was blocked and recovered by Springfield, but Middlebury got the ball on downs. Middlebury was penalized 15 yards for illegal use of hands. Line plays failed to gain and a pass was knocked down. Huntington punted outside on the Springfield 15 yard line. Line plays failed to gain and Hammond punted outside on his own 35 yard line. G. Clark intercepted a Middlebury forward on the Springfield 28 yard line. Line plays failed to gain and Hammond punted to the Middlebury 39 yard line. The Panther darkened the skies with forward passes, three being incomplete as the game ended. Score: Springfield 13; Middlebury 7.

D. K. E. Team Wins Golf Tournament

Sunday, October 21, marked the play-off of the inter-fraternity golf tournament. The Delta Kappa Epsilon and the Chi Psi fraternities had reached the finals and strove for supremacy. The D. K. E. team was composed of Weston, Owen, and Sherman, while the Chi Psi's had White, Hughs, and Sorensen.

Both teams had shown great ability in reaching the finals when D. K. E. defeated Delta Upsilon and Chi Psi defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon in the semi-finals. Two close matches finally gave the supremacy to the Delta Kappa Epsilon team for which they will receive the beautiful trophy offered by the Sages. In addition this tourney gives the Dekes 100 points towards the Intramural Trophy.

PANTHER TRACKS

Sammy was going in high gear throughout the entire game. Norwich and Vermont had better watch that boy.

Valois sure has sandpaper hands. The way he snatched those passes out from under the noses of the Springfielders was enough to make any opposing coach swear. "Les" sure will come in handy against our State opponents.

McLeod played his best game of the season. "Cloudy's" end runs were pretty to watch.

Coach Clogston sure has worked wonders with that line. Perhaps Norwich and Vermont will discard their opinions of the "greenness" of the forward barrier when they face the "bunch."

Capt. "Eddie" Williamson of Springfield, who is out for the rest of the season with an injured shoulder, fretted and fumed on the Bay Stater's bench. Williamson is a real quarterback and Coach Rothacker missed him plenty.

Scouts were active on the sidelines. Middlebury was being scouted by Vermont and Springfield was being covered by Naw Hampshire and Boston University.

Norwich is said to have a wonderful aerial attack. Perhaps so, but they had better look out for the Willis to Valois combination.

Middlebury made 7 first downs to 4 for Springfield.

Did you get a big kick out of seeing Middlebury last Saturday? If you didn't you should be blithered in a harsh manner, for never has Middlebury put up such a game fight as it did on Porter Field. Time and time again, in the face of discouraging breaks, the gang came back for more and seemed to like it. That's what makes football.

The Middlebury spirit came out of its hole for the first appearance in a long time, and was personified by the students. That is good dope, no matter if some of the "profs" did try to tell you so. If we can have a section like that at Norwich next Saturday we will be able to accomplish things.

Our good break came Saturday and Norwich's break is coming this coming week-end, but in the opposite way. Graham has been saving a lot of his stuff and material for the Green Mountain Conference and so has Beck. It will be a battle of wits and the Black Panther is ready to break up this O'Donnell-Coane forward passing attack, so "Let's go."

The end proposition is gradually clearing up. Valois, a Junior out for the first time seems to be able to snare the elusive pigskin and stop the plays, and when MacNary comes back in the line up we wont have to worry about that department.

After a long rest Macomber, fast Vermont back has finally been permitted by his physician to re-enter the football field, a thing which will considerably strengthen the Catamount's backfield. We'll have to be careful of this man and the development which will center around him.

Hess Runs Sixty Yards For Panther's Only Score.

DUQUETTE SHOWS FLASHES IN RUNS

Playing their first game away from home, the Blue and White Freshmen eleven was defeated Saturday afternoon by Goddard Seminary on Seminary Field at Barre. Middlebury's touchdown came in the last quarter when Hess intercepted a pass and sprinted 60 yards through a clear field for the Panther's only score. The Frosh had the misfortune of being on the short end of most of Fate's little pranks known as "breaks." Other things besides "breaks" very evidently figured in their defeat, but the story would have probably been a little different if Fate had only winked at our yearlings at the times when their opportunities shone.

The game began with Goddard kicking-off. The sun seemed to shine for Middlebury alone as Duquette grabbed the oval and sauntered through the opposing team to his own 42 yard line, but on the very next play, an unfortunate back-pass from center eluded the entire backfield and rolled down the slope of the field to the Freshmen's 18 yard line where Goddard recovered it.

With their backs to the wall at the very start of the contest, the frosh line held and finally took the ball on downs. Middlebury punted and the ball went out of bounds on the 30 yard line. The frosh again withstood Goddard's offense and took the ball on downs on their own 23 yard line. Middlebury again lost the ball when a hurried punt was blocked and recovered by Goddard. The Seminary boys promptly completed a pass and brought the ball to the freshmen's two yard line where the Blue and White were penalized half the distance to their goal line for being offside.

At the beginning of the second quarter, Whitehouse, Goddard's right half back, broke through from the one yard line for the first score. The try for point failed.

Goddard kicked-off to Middlebury who ran it back to the 38 yard line. A series of off-tackle smashes were of no avail, so the Frosh kicked, the ball being downed on Goddard's 18 yard line. Unable to gain through the line, the Seminary boys returned the kick. The Blue and White began an advance from their 54 yard line which was assisted by a penalty on Goddard for interfering with the receiver of a pass. A series of line plunges and off-tackle slices brought the ball to Goddard's 18 yard line, and the Frosh had their first real opportunity to score. This opportunity fell through, however, when a pass on the fourth down failed.

On two successive end runs, the Seminary boys made two first downs. A moment later a pass added another first down and the ball was on the 32 yard line. Here the Freshmen got up their "Irish" and took the ball on downs, but being unable to advance were forced to kick. Goddard returned the kick and a fumble allowed it to roll to Middlebury's 12 yard line. Middlebury immediately kicked out of danger to the middle of the field.

Goddard made two successive first downs on two passes, and from Middlebury's 15 yard line they pushed over their second touchdown on a fluke. The ball-carried seemed to have been tackled and legitimately downed, but the referee's whistle failed to sound and the runner got up and ran over the goal line. The try for point again failed.

Goddard kicked-off and Middlebury returned the ball to their 32 yard line. A line plunge and an end run obtained two first downs for the Frosh, but the Seminary boys finally held and retrieved the ball on downs as the third quarter ended.

Norwich 18; Mass. Aggies 6.
Union 7; Vermont 6.
Amherst 19; Hamilton 0.
Williams 26; R. P. I. 7.
Tufts 12; Bowdoin 0.
Springfield 13; Middlebury 7.

The victorious Norwich eleven seems to continue using Coach Graham's tactics, and consequently the poor Mass. Aggies came out on the wrong side of the score. The Aggies made their only score in the last few minutes of play when the Cadet's team was entirely second string men. Coane, the star Norwich end again did some of the scoring, with Captain O'Donald and Kane following suit. Norwich is getting ready for her first game of the state sesies with Middlebury and it looks as though it were going to be a struggle. The passing combination to O'Donnell to Coane seems to be the most formidable thing the Horsemen can show.

Rattan's Vermont aggregation seems to be sharing the same fate as several other New England colleges, for as yet they have to win a game. However in the Union defeat they deserve a great deal of credit for Union only got their tally over the line on the last minutes of play after an 80 yard march down the field. Vermont is considerably handicapped this year by the loss of end material, Palmer and Robinson both being out.

The big Hamilton team lost its first game of the season Saturday to an improved Amherst eleven. Fumbles by the New Yorker's captain, Chatfield, marred the play and accounted for the two tallies and also spoiled his playing which was the shining light of the Hamiltonians offense and defense.

The The engineers from Troy met a big defeat at the hands of Howe and his side-kick, Langmaid. In winning their fourth straight victory the Williams eleven looks good for the Little Three Championship, although in Saturday's game the R. P. I. team made 13 first downs to their opponents 11. The game consisted of passing plays to a good extent, both Williams and Rensselaer uncorking a dazzling aerial attack in the second half.

Captain Ellis and his Jumbo cohorts from the woods around Medford Hillside are conducting another no loss season according to indications. Held in the first half scoreless by a determined Bowdoin eleven, Tufts finally unleashed a baffling running attack and accounted for two touch downs before the end of the game. Tufts forward passes resulted in little if no gain but her passes fooled the Maine boys.

According to the present dope on the football world Middlebury has yet to meet four teams that have very good records. Hamilton has lost one game out of four; Norwich has done the same, Tufts has won three straight and Vermont is still struggling along having made one touchdown this season while her opponents have scored 102 in games with her.

Norwich seems to have the American League Yankee stuff under calm and cool control. We notice by press reports that Kane and Waining are out of running, but find them in the scores as the leading lights of the game, along with the ever present Coane. Still this "bear dope" line is being used too much, professionally and collegiately, and before we will see an association for better and bigger forecasting.

Our opponents play the following games this week:

Tufts vs. Brown at Providence.

Hamilton vs. Trinity at Clinton.

Springfield vs. New Hampshire at Springfield.

Vermont vs. Conn. Aggies at Burlington.

Amherst vs. Wesleyan at Middletown.

Williams vs. Columbia at New York.

field. Middlebury lost the ball on downs, but immediately won it again when they recovered an opponent's fumble. The Freshmen failed to complete two passes and again lost the ball on downs. Goddard punted from their own 38 yard line, and Middlebury returned the ball to their 26 yard line. The Frosh punted and it was Goddard's ball on their own 48 yard line. Goddard attempted a long forward pass in the flat zone, but Hess intercepted it and sprinted 60 yards for a touchdown. Duquette added the extra point by a drop-kick.

The Freshmen kicked-off to Goddard who ran the ball back to their own 30 yard line. The Seminary boys made 20 yards around end. Goddard continued their march assisted by the referee and time-keeper who continually caused much confusion by blowing like whistles on all occasions except when necessary. Middlebury finally held on their 20 yard line and took the ball on downs. As the game ended, Goddard intercepted a long Middlebury pass in the center of the field.

The game was marked by numerous streaks of luck that seldom favored our Freshmen. The Goddard team was not very heavy, but made up what they lacked physically in pep; something our boys seemed to lack.

The line-up:

MR. WILLIAM BELA GAZDAGH JR. ELECTED PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE

Stirring Campaign Closes Between Halves At Game.

THREE ENTER RACE FOR HIGH OFFICE

Anti-Bunk All Bunk Platform Is Favorite Among Voters.

The exciting campaign for the election of a president pro-tem of the college during Prexy's extended leave of absence culminated Saturday afternoon between halves of the Springfield game.

Promoter Chromec announced that the show and hilarity were to cease over a week early, (a monkey wrench was evidently thrown in the works) and that the vote would be promptly taken by applause. Professors Griffen, Bowker, Barney, Harrington, and Swett were appointed judges. In the first vote the Hot Party and Anti-bunk-all-bunk outfit tied for first. In the second vote the Gaz house gang came out ahead and William Bela Gazdagh was elected president of Middlebury College. William favored the voters with a short talk. He thanked them for their backing and congratulated them on the foresight and intelligence shown in their vote.

A short recess was declared during the latter part of the dance at McCullough Gymnasium Saturday evening in order to hold the inauguration ceremonies. Again Prexy Gaz favored the assembled multitude with a talk. "Again I wish to thank the intelligent voters for their support. It shows that Middlebury is not in an intellectual decline as some ignorant people have suggested. The results of this afternoon's vote prove conclusively that Midllebury is nearly on the top of an upward grade in learning. We stand for the best interests of Middlebury. There is no vice in our party or campaign, not even a vice-president. Trains to Montreal every week-end—Classes between ten and ten-thirty only and five minutes between classes—All for Gaz and gas for all. (Plenty of it.) Congratulations on your foresight.

"HOT PARTY" CLEANS UP POLITICAL MESS PUBLISHES PAPER

Purity Party Gets Wet—Band Serenades Registrar.

Following the chapel services while the Band of the "Hot Party" was serenading Jenne Bristol, Undefiled-Henry and Chaste Bosworth fanfaronaded from the Old Chapel steps. They were getting along famously when Ribald Lynch called on the plumbing system and throughly soaked the Ivory Soap brothers. This was followed shortly after by a prank of a brain-sick child who thought it was funny to empty the contents of a wastepaper can on the heads of the orators and Professor Fife. The story was told in an Extra put in circulation by the Hot Party just before the game in the afternoon.

From The Hot News.

Truly the Gods are incensed with the followers of the Purity Party. When simple Simon Pure Henry attempted, in his crude jardon, to address the student voters from the step of the Old Chapel the Gods became displeased—the skies became darkened and the floods descended—But mirable dictu—not upon the audience but on the would be orators. Despite the herculean attempts of his left handed right hand man, all exibitions of the Demagogic and forensic magnitude were of no avail.

Simon's only audible words were his last. Weeping bitterly he moaned; "I can but see the Gods have afflicted me—so let it be."

The much vaunted Purity Party utterly failed to purify, while the Consolidated Gaz mercenaries raised havoc on the campus.

We call the voters attention to the fact that when the Gaz gang, a band of degenerate ward heelers, resorted to filthy partisan subterfuge to influence voters the only party public spirited enough to protest, Nay!—to put down such civic outrage—was the Hot Party.

POLITICIANS OPEN CAMPAIGN FRIDAY

Hardy, Gazdagh and Henry Run for College President.

Friday evening the Political camgaign opened with a bang when Sam Pattee, the manager of the Hot Party delivered a lecture in the dining hall at Hillcrest. He presented his candidate for President of Middlebury College "Hot Hardy" and extolled the virtues of this most worthy of men. He briefly outlined the platform of the Hot Party. Whatever you want changed we will change it—A clean honest campaign—we throw only clean mud. Simultaneous with Pattees talk, "Dick" Humeston presented the Hot Party's candidate for Vice-President "Mick" McDermott and delivered a stirring talk on the party platform and the unexampled fine qualities of his vice presidential candidate. They were awarded a big hand and everything looked bright.

After the rally in the McCullough Gymnasium Amos Purity Henry came in strong with every Freshman in the college. Manager Bosworth had been giving lessons in booing to the frosh all afternoon and by the end of the rally they had perfected the art to such an extent that the pearls thrown by the other candidates were absolutely wasted. The efficient organization of the Purity Party had already produced a brilliant paper on their one plank platform.

Purity! Purity! Purity! Our choice for President Amos Purity Henry The man who is to lead Middlebury into the paths of Righteousness Our Platform Purity, Our Motto Purity, Our steadfast purpose Purity and more like that. Their mistake was that they wanted to hoist purity on the undergraduates. And who has ever heard of a student who wanted to become or remain pure. Why does one think that they come to college to be pure?—to elect pure men to office?—to be surrounded by pure people?—Not much.

After much roistering about the gym without any party achieving anything except to forget that there was to be a football game the next day and for half the backers to get sore throats from trying to out vie the other, the Purity party lead by Amos Purity Henry and Equally Pure Bosworth hied themselves down town.

Henry's remarkable talk to the thirsting voters around the fountain was drowned out more or less by the Consolidated Gaz outfit supporting William Bella Gazdagh on the Anti-Bunk All Bunk platform. Eventually everyone's voice gave out and some of the crowd went to the cinema where they were treated to a poor show and the crazy antics of would-be-preshident Gazdagh and manager Lynch. The Anti-Bunk All Bunk crew presented their remarkable platform and nearly created a riot in the Opera House. "All for Gaz, and Gas for all, week-end trains to Montreal every week." (the gas for all part of the platform has been passed out wholesale for several years and is still going strong as this goes to print. We are still waiting for the rest of the promises to be fulfilled.) The second plank of the platform met with a great ovation.

CAMPAIGN CAUSES MUCH EXCITEMENT SATURDAY MORNING

Party Recruits Band and Marches to Chapel En Masse.

Saturday morning the Old Chapel steps became a rostrum for the several candidates. Bosworth moved the assembled multitude to tears. Lynch to laughter, and Pattee to that far-away look which is so reminiscent of hot parties.

The "Hot Party" produced a band and a daily paper about five minutes before Chapel and proceeded marching en masse to the services, while undergraduate news boys passed out their wares. Here the Anti-Bunk All-Bunk outfit and the Purity party tried to break in on the advantage of having a band furnished by the Hot Party but failed miserably. The symphonic strains of the six piece band was too much for them and they broke down in humiliation at their dastardly deed and went inside to worship.

Volume one, Number one of "Hot News" had a tremendous circulation. It gave in part the platform of its backers. "E. Pluribus Hardy, a man among millions, Fearless, fair and faithful? He straddles no issues. He is no parlor Bolshevik. Not just good, but better." The paper went on to praise the virtues of the Candidate "Hot Hardy" and outlined the policy to be followed by the campaign.

A modest statement on the character of the Vice-president, Betty McDermott followed. "She is the best example of the highest type of womanhood to be found. She has a sympathetic understanding with every one. She is not High Hat. She is not low brow. Everyone knows her, likes her and will vote for her."

Chapel was brief and to the point. Following the solemn retirement of the choir the several candidates were introduced by the managers to the student body. Bosworth Waxed brilliant, Pattee Clever, but Lynch put over the best talk. He was waxing fluent when he was broken up by rushing to and fro of Western Union messengers who brought telegrams from Al Smith, Herbie Hoover, and Ex-president Moody all praising the Anti-Bunk All-Bunk party for their splendid work.
